Heat transfer enhancement of parallel flow and counter flow heat exchanger using the w-cut, triangle, and right angle triangle has been investigated in the present work. Regarding to the experimental results, it can be concluded as follows. Heat exchangers with right angle triangle twisted tape having better heat transfer rate of 217.6kj/kg., heat transfer coefficient rate is 52.29 w/m²k comparing to others inserts. Therefore the amount of heat transfer rate increased is 113.8kj/kg and efficiency increased around 20% comparing to normal twisted tape.

P.S.PRAGADEESH

This designed solar seed sowing machine will counter the problem of various attachments used for seed sowing. It can be concluded that the seed sowing machine is compact and easy to operate. This seed sowing machine is able to sow various seeds effortlessly and efforts of worker are reduced. The cost of seed sowing machine is considerably less as compared to other machines. Machines available in market are suitable for large sector so this can be best machine for the small sectors. In our machine, we are sowing kambu, solam and ulunthu. Where human effort is required for turning purpose of the vehicle and for operating the timer.

The steps for increasing yield in brittle iron casting are proposed. An internal defects occurs at the time of solidification which can be eliminated by proper design of metal feeding system. Improved yield offers many benefits as material cost, better process control, In this project yield improvement of gating system in iron casting is proposed.
